New York.—One doesn't have to investigate sentiment very far in this, the nation's metropolis, to learn that President-elect Harding's list of cabinet secretaries will not evoke outbursts of enthusiasm. If it should prove to be the state that practically all the correspondents, both in Washington and St. Augustine, have been publishing during the last few weeks.

Of course New York's point of view may not be national but here at any rate are some influential republican leaders and newspapers and it is significant that many of them are finding fault publicly and privately. Mr. Harding may have selected what any president might regard as a good working cabinet but the trouble is New York had come to expect a super-cabinet with General Wood, Herbert Hoover and Elihu Root in it and authentic dispatches from Harding's headquarters have indicated that none of these three giants of republicanism would be chosen.

Take the secretaryship of state, for instance. Now Charles Evans Hughes is well known in New York and his ability is fully recognized, but Elihu Root would have been more enthusiastically approved because his training has been in international affairs and diplomacy. However, the objections to Hughes are relatively insignificant compared to the murmurs of dissatisfaction over the omission of men like General Wood and Herbert Hoover.

Remember Lincoln

The New York Tribune, for instance, one of the leading Republican newspapers, seems to think it is not too late to persuade Mr. Harding to change his mind and accordingly publishes today a cartoon showing the shadowy figure of Abraham Lincoln behind Uncle Sam, who is admonishing the president-elect thus: "Don't forget Warren, the kind of men he (Lincoln) picked for his cabinet."

While Gougham admires the genius and ability of Andrew W. Mellon of Pittsburgh, who is slated for the secretaryship of the treasury, some Republicans are uneasy over the way the Democratic newspapers have insisted upon cataloging the large financial holdings of Mr. Mellon. They wonder if the country will approve the selection of a man whose wealth is said to be next to that of John D. Rockefeller. But New York really doesn't object to wealth, nor does it consider Mr. Mellon's business connections as a handicap. The bottom of the trouble is that Wall Street and the banking community had come to hope that one of its own group of financiers would sit in the treasury department under a republican administration, or that perhaps one of its good friends, like George M. Reynolds, the big Chicago banker, might be so honored.

There seems to be no particular objection to Gov. Lowden of Illinois. On the contrary he is much admired, but the people on the inside here insist that within the last five days Gov. Lowden's letter declining to enter the cabinet at all has reached Mr. Harding at St. Augustine.

Strong for Wood

Much praise of John W. Weeks, former U. S. senator from Massachusetts, who is slated to be secretary of war, is heard but there is no denying that the appointment of Leonard Wood would have been many times more pleasing.

Messrs. Will Hays and Harry M. Daugherty, who are listed for postmaster general and attorney general respectively in political circles but it is nevertheless true that leading Republicans question the advisability of putting men of prominence in political organization in the cabinet. What some of these New Yorkers do not know is that a politician with his ear to the ground is sometimes a better judge of the public pulse than a business man whose training has been entirely inside a single city and in a single business.

New York has been somewhat of a Hoover stronghold and since the former food administrator has come so prominently before the public in connection with the European credit relief, the people have been constantly reminded of his executive ability so that it is not unusual to hear one man say to another, or one woman to another: "I wonder why Mr. Harding doesn't put Hoover in the cabinet."

Most folks, however, refuse to believe what they see in the newspapers about cabinet selections and are serenely confident that when the list is finally made public it will surely contain the names of Leonard Wood, Elihu Root and Herbert Hoover.

Turk Leader Defies A. B. It Accepts Mediation Of U.S.

Mustapha Kemal Declares
Greece Has No Rights in Asia
Minor and Announces Terms on Which He Is Willing to Negotiate Peace.

By United Press Leased Wire
(Mustapha Kemal, noted leader of the Turkish nationalists, in an exclusive statement to the United Press Monday defies the allies, lays down his peace terms, and welcomes American mediation.)

Kemal is at his headquarters at Angora, Asia Minor, where he gave the statement to a United Press courier. Hostilities between the Turks and Greeks have been suspended, pending a decision by allied ministers, meeting in London, on the matters in dispute between Turkey and Greece.

Kemal is reputed to have 10,000 men. He is faced by a large Greek army, commanded by General Vlachos. The Greeks want to put the Sevres treaty into effect. Former Premier Venizelos is now in London attempting to secure enforcement of the treaty which he took a large part in drafting.

Berlin.—American mediation between Greece and the Turkish nationalists will be welcomed. Mustapha Kemal, leader of the nationalists, declared in his first public statement, made to the United Press.

The statement was received here Monday having been brought by a courier from headquarters of the victorious Turkish general at Angora, Asia Minor, from which point he controls the activities of his troops.

Intervention by President Wilson in Armenia is unnecessary, Kemal said, because peace has already been established there.

Defying the allies, Kemal rejects the treaty of Sevres, and demands that Constantinople be left under control of the Turks. He submits the following as his terms of peace:

- 1.—Nullification of the treaty of Sevres.
- 2.—Constantinople must remain under Turkish sovereignty, her security to be guaranteed by the allied nations.
- 3.—Freedom of navigation through the Dardanelles, under regulations laid down, not by England, but by the Black Sea sovereign states.
- 4.—Renunciation by Greece of her imperialistic aims. Kemal made a long and bitter attack on Great Britain, France and Greece, which have tried to make the Sevres treaty effective in Turkey.

"By its heroic resistance," he said, "the Turkish people shows it is conscious of its rights and duties. The treaty of Sevres banishes our political, jurisdictional, economic and financial independence—deprives us of the right to live."

"Therefore it is non-existent for us. We are fighting in defense of our national existence. We leave it to the civilized world to judge the justice and legitimacy of our course."

"For over a thousand years Smyrna, assigned to the Greeks under the Sevres treaty, was a Turkish town," Kemal declared.

"Greece possesses no rights there whatever. Extermination of the Turks there is a continuation of the policy of extermination applied by the Greeks in Thessaly, Crete and Macedonia. We are absolutely certain of chasing these bandits from our soil shortly. But we would rather see the enemy recognize our rights and evacuate the country. Under these conditions would we undertake peace negotiations. We would prefer that these negotiations be directly with Greece, but we would welcome the benevolent and humanitarian mediation of the United States."

"Thrace, like Smyrna, is inhabited by a Turkish majority and is an integral part of our country. It is the legacy of our ancient capital, Adrianople. We shall drive the invader out. In western Thrace we would accept a plebiscite."

Polish delegates have stood out for $5,000,000 rubles in gold. The Russians protested violently against the amount, declaring it was confiscatory and exorbitant. They offered to pay $5,000,000 rubles but not in gold.

Notes, concessions and materials would have to serve, they declared.

Glad To Risk Life To Regain Youth Spirit

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Otto Trobach Monday pleaded for an opportunity to risk his life to regain the spirit of youth.

Trobach, who is a chief at the Parkway hotel, entreated Sheriff Peters to permit a blind to be transferred from the next man to be hung to his own body so that he could possess the spark of life snuffed out on the gallows.

The disconsolate man, in the search for phantom youth, made his first plea to the sheriff last week when Eddie Brisbane, murderer, was hung.

Trobach, who is 41, said he was prematurely aged 11 years ago as the result of an accident.

"I had just begun to enjoy youth when it was snatched from me," he said.

The man said he had consulted a physician who advised him the operation could be performed.

"I am a poor man," said Trobach. "I am willing, however, to pay $100 to the doctor performing the operation."

"The rich are able to prolong their lives by similar operations. Why not I? Surely youth is as precious to me as anyone."

"It makes me sad when I recall my days of vim, vigor and vitality. I was an athlete and happy in my strength in those days."

"I would that Ponce de Leon had been chasing a reality instead of a dream when he started out to find the fountain of youth."

The report was no "made public," said Johnson, "but was submitted to Commissioner of Internal Revenue Roper in order that the alleged graft might be checked up in the income tax statements of the man involved."

Roper promised to investigate the case but I have received no report of what was done by the commission's office. Our resolution would look into whether any action was taken against alleged grafters by the government, as well as whether Hill and Lindsay attempted blackmail."

Johnson said he may have the report of Hill and Lindsay printed in the congressional record. The resolution asking for the investigation of the blackmail charge was introduced in the house Saturday by Representative Flood who claimed that the request of Hill and Lindsay to the war department for the letter was refused when their purport was learned. The department has informed Flood that the two investigators planned to ask the business man involved to pay a large sum and to threaten to sell the letter to a newspaper if he did not.

Chicago.—Miriam Ruben, eight-year-old girl of Waukegan, Ill., was still talking Monday after almost incessant babbling for nine days.

Her voice was much lower and her conversation about "dolls" and "mamma" had grown more incoherent.

Dr. Paul O. Berger, who administered osteopathic treatment to the girl's spine, said Monday he was confident he could cure her abnormal and unprecedented malady in a few days.

Miriam responded readily to the doctor's treatment yesterday. He found two of the vertebrae of her spine out of place and sprung them back in position. Following the operation, she slept two periods of over an hour each.

Dr. Berger said one of the vertebrae pinched the nerve that controls speech. Recurring treatment will cure her, he said.

BLACKMAIL IS HINTED AT IN GRAFT EXPOSE

Investigation of Suppressed Report Is Asked by Dakota Congressman.

SECRET LETTER IS SOUGHT
Committee Probers Alleged to Have Threatened Prominent Business Man.

Washington.—A complete investigation of all the incidents surrounding the charge that two special investigators of the house war department expenditures committee attempted blackmail, was asked in the house Monday by Representative Royal Johnson, South Dakota.

Johnson is chairman of the subcommittee which employed the two men who are charged with attempting to obtain a secret letter from the war department to carry out their alleged scheme.

The two men, J. M. Hill and C. C. Lindsay, Johnson explained, submitted a report about a year ago charging graft in the settlement of several war claims of business interests in Pittsburg.

"The report was no 'made public,'" said Johnson, "but was submitted to Commissioner of Internal Revenue Roper in order that the alleged graft might be checked up in the income tax statements of the man involved."

RAILROADS HAVE NO RIGHT TO CUT
EMPLOYEES' WAGES

Congress Asked to Cut Rates and Wages to Stimulate Railroad Business.

Washington.—A resolution looking to a reduction of both railroad wages and rates in order to stimulate business was introduced in the house Monday by Representative Black, democrat, Texas.

The resolution directs the interstate commerce commission to review the increased rates put into effect last August and the railroad labor board at Chicago to again consider the wage increases totaling $65,000,000 a year granted last summer.

Chicago.—Right of railroads to arbitrarily reduce the wages of employees was denied by the federal railroad labor board in a decision Monday. The board's ruling was contained in a ruling on the petition of employees of the Erie road to prevent the management from putting into effect drastic salary reductions and changes in hours of work.

No change shall be made in the existing scale and working conditions before the board has an opportunity to hear the case. The hearing was set for Feb. 25.

The employees charged that the road attempted to put into effect a reduction in wages of track laborers to 30 cents an hour; ordered train dispatchers to work seven days a week without relief and ordered the deduction of the earnings of telegraphers for January 31, whether they worked or not on that day.

Further conference between the employees and the road in an attempt to settle the controversy was suggested by the board.

WHITE CALLS HAND OF POLITICAL FOES

Democratic Chairman Invites
Love and Wooley to Reveal
Their Plans.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Chairman White of the democratic national committee, Monday invited Thomas B. Love and Robert W. Wooley, close friends of William G. McAdoo, to appear before the meeting of the democratic executive committee here next Thursday and explain why they think an immediate reorganization of the party, with the ousting of the present chairman, is necessary.

Love and Wooley have circulated a "round robin" among the democratic national committeemen for a meeting of the full committee, apparently with the purpose of ousting White, a Cox leader.

Another signer of the round robin was virtually withdrawn Monday when W. L. Barnum, Arizona, committeeman, wired White that he did not wish to be considered a party to the move if its purpose is to depose the chairman and cause trouble.

Love declared Monday his efforts do not constitute a McAdoo movement and that the fight for party reorganization will continue.

"There is no element of personal feeling against any individual in this movement," said Love.

"There is no element of personal politics in it. There is no thought of booting or retarding any personal candidacy for president in 1924. The only thought and purpose is to create an efficient and vir

New Prohibition Orders Curtail Prescriptions for Whisky in State.

Medicinal wine may be prescribed by physicians in any quantity, no longer than one bottle.

According to an order issued by Thomas Delaney, federal prohibition director for Wisconsin. The order says the doctor can prescribe as much wine as he sees fit. There will be a curtailment of prescriptions for whiskey, the director has ruled. Doctors will be allowed one prescription book every 90 days. The old ruling permitted 100 blanks every 60 days. This order, coupled with the recent ban on removal of bonded whiskey from storage, will cut down the illegal liquor traffic to a minimum, officials believe. It is not believed that either order will make much difference in Appleton. Only two or three physicians have been issuing prescriptions here and one drug store has permission to sell whiskey, but it has not been sold out freely enough to cause much drunkenness.

Neenah Car Stolen

Another car was reported stolen from Neenah Sunday evening and the assistance of the Appleton police sought in locating it. It was described as a Ford sedan with license No. 35,165.

STATE RISK MEN TO MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Plans for a large attendance at the joint meeting of insurance associations of the state in Milwaukee Feb. 19 were made at the annual meeting of the Fox River Valley Life Underwriters association in Oshkosh. A number of Appleton insurance men have stated their intention to be present at this gathering, which will be addressed by Orville Thorp, president, and Charles R. Soovel, past president, of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Officers elected at the Oshkosh meeting were A. A. Pilon, Fond du Lac, president; Homer H. Bishop, Oshkosh, vice president; Joseph Drasal, Oshkosh, second vice president; J. F. MacDermott, Fond du Lac, secretary-treasurer. The meeting was opened by an address of welcome by Gen. C. R. Boardman, Oshkosh. James C. Fouta, president, presided. Excellent addresses on life insurance subjects were given by Joseph Drawal, Oshkosh; Earl M. LaPlant, Sturgeon Bay; S. D. Boreham, A. A. Pilon and A. V. A. Schoofs, Fond du Lac.

Attend Neenah Meeting. Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce, and about half a dozen members expect to attend the Valentine day dinner of the Neenah Civic association in S. A. Cook armory Monday evening. It is a booster event of the reorganized commercial body with Allen D. Albert, Minneapolis, as its speaker.

Homer Fumel is in Milwaukee on business. Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Wolf were Kaukauna visitors over Sunday.

MUCH GOOD TIMBER IS LEFT IN STATE

Standard Manufacturing Company Starts Operations in Sawmill.

Pine, birch and maple logs, some of the finest ever brought to Appleton even in pioneer days, are being sawed into lumber at the plant of the Standard Manufacturing Co., 934 Lawrence. They are shipped here from Keshena reservation and were purchased from the government. The shipment consists of 200,000 feet and the lumber will all be used by the plant.

A large portion of the logs are as straight as an arrow and without a blemish. The statement that all the best lumber in Wisconsin disappeared years ago is not based on fact for in the company's lumber piles from the present cutting of logs are any number of pine planks and boards 16 feet long and 22 inches wide without a knot.

The birch and maple compares favorably with the pine and will work up into a very superior quality of ash, doors and office fixtures. The logs from one pine tree measure five feet and six inches in diameter. The entire shipment is the original growth of timber.

The company started its saw mill last Monday with a full crew of men which will be kept busy for some time. Farmers are bringing in their logs from all parts of the county for custom sawing. The logs are mostly elm, oak and ash, but the quality is not as good as it was a few years ago when timber was more plentiful.

"Business has been good right along," said Robert O. Schmidt, vice president of the company, "and we expect to be still busier as soon as the building season opens up. We plan to extend our operations considerably this summer."

SICK WOMAN ENDANGERED WHEN FIRE ATTACKS HOME

An overheated furnace flue caused fire to break out about 8:30 Monday morning at the home of Miss Karnes, police patrolman, and Fred W. Berg, 838 Morrison-st. Only slight damage resulted, although there was considerable smoke.

Mrs. Berg is seriously ill and was occupying one of the bedrooms of the lower apartment. Her husband who was staying at home because of her condition carried her in his arms to the home of a neighbor.

The flames worked their way through the floor around the chimney, but were extinguished with chemicals before they could gain headway. A small portion of the wall had to be torn away to get at the seat of the fire. The damage may approximate $100.

BE SURE AND PUT ON ENOUGH STAMPS

Mail Often Delayed Because of Insufficient Postage, Keller Declares.

Mail has been deposited in the post office so frequently with insufficient postage that Postmaster Gustave Keller has issued an appeal for greater caution as a means of preventing delay, extra work and the possible reflection on the intentions of the sender when postage is collected at the other end.

"All mail is supposed to be fully prepaid before deposited in the post office," said Mr. Keller. "Letters will be forwarded to the addressee if they contain at least one 2-cent stamp, and the balance of the postage will be collected at the other end. This is not a very satisfactory practice, because the person receiving the letter does not say much but he thinks a lot when the sender is so thoughtless as to use too few stamps."

Delay is caused where packages are not fully prepaid. A notice must be sent the sender if known, telling him to call at the postoffice with the necessary stamps. The addressee is notified otherwise, and must mail sufficient stamps to the Appleton office before the package may leave.

"The clerks at the windows should be consulted and the mail weighed where there is doubt," Mr. Keller said. "Very few people want their mail to go out without being fully prepaid, and I therefore suggest greater caution in the future. Every business house ought to have a postal scale to avoid underpayment of postage."

ICE HAULING BEES ARE POPULAR IN COUNTRY

Ice hauling bees are the fashion in the country these days. A dozen or fifteen farmers will join together, share their services and teams and fill various icehouses.

A. P. Peterson, town of Freedom, obtained his supply of ice from Thomas Mullen's pond, Black Creek. Paul Peters, town of Ellington, is hauling from Laird lake, and Hubert Merkel, School Section road, from the asyum pond. Martin Kading, town of Center, has his icehouse filled.

The cutting is usually done by the owner of the pond. Two or three days are spent preparing the harvest and the teams then appear on the scene.

Cut Lumber

No lumber camp is busier than Twelve Corners these days. Farmers are driving in from all directions with long timber to be sawed into lumber. There is an unusual rush because farmers desire to take advantage of the sleighing.

HAYTON COMPANY TO ADD MORE MACHINES

Business Depression Has Not Touched Pump and Blower Manufacturer.

While many manufacturing plants in Fox river valley have either closed down or operated on a short hour schedule during the present business depression, the Hayton Pump & Blower Co., has found it necessary to place an order for additional machinery that will double its capacity. This has been made necessary because no time during the last 12 months has the company been able to keep pace with its orders. No additional room will be required for the new equipment.

MILD WINTER SAVES FEED FOR FARMERS

One-third of Livestock Food Supply Will Be Left When Winter Ends.

The mild winter has not only saved the public thousands of dollars in fuel, but it has also saved farmers thousands of dollars in feed. Farmers of Outagamie county will emerge from winter this spring with practically one-third of their supply of feed on hand.

"Live stock never eats as much in mild weather as when the temperature is below zero," said a farmer in discussing the feed situation Wednesday. "and I for one will have nearly half of my last year's crop left

STATE CONFERENCE ON REFORESTATION

Northern Wisconsin Development Association Is Taking Lead.

Attention of the chamber of commerce has been called to a proposed statewide conference on the forestry situation, to be called by J. W. Jones, Rhinelander, president of the Rhinelander Advancement association and Henry Campbell, associate editor of the Milwaukee Journal.

The conference emanates from the activities of the newly organized Upper Wisconsin Development association. No date has been set and the place is not selected, but announcement is to be made in a short time.

Support of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce has been called to a proposed statewide conference on the forestry situation, to be called by J. W. Jones, Rhinelander, president of the Rhinelander Advancement association and Henry Campbell, associate editor of the Milwaukee Journal.

Several important goals have been set by the development association, which includes Lincoln, Oneida, Taylor, Price, Vilas, Iron and Forest counties. Idle lands are to be converted into farms in what is considered the richest potato growing belt in the state. Reforestation of cut-over lands is also to be urged and there is a movement to convert the woods and lakes of the north into a nationally known summer resort.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fountain, John L. Hettinger, Mart McDonald, A. A. Fraser and William Nemacheck leave for Milwaukee Tuesday morning where they will attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin Retail Lumbermen's association at Hotel Pfeister.

over. It is the same with live stock as it is with human beings the colder it is the more food is required to keep warm."

Hay has dropped $10 a ton since last fall and it is predicted that it will go still lower. All other kinds of feed also are lower in proportion. Because the price of milk is so low some of the farmers are planning to reduce their herds this spring even at a sacrifice. "A year ago," said the farmer quoted above, "I attended auctions where cows sold for $100 each, but I don't suppose they will bring half that price now. I will have several to sell next month, but I have no idea the price to place on them."

Highest Food Authorities tell why Karo is one of the greatest of all energy-producing foods

Every father and mother should read this message

THERE is much more than the delicious taste of Karo to account for the fact that more than two hundred million cans were sold last year.

It's simple enough, when you know that Karo is perhaps the richest of all foods in Dextrose. And Dextrose is one of the most important food elements there is.

You could not live long without Dextrose

Most of the foods you eat—such as bread, starchy vegetables, and all forms of sugar—have to be changed into Dextrose before your system can use them as energy foods.

So Karo may almost be said to be a pre-digested food. These are scientific facts, supported by the very highest medical and food authorities. Send for the free booklet mentioned below and read the facts.

Karo is perfectly delicious—whether for cooking, baking, candy-making, or preserving. It's the best part of the breakfast for millions of people—on pancakes, hot biscuits, or as a spread on toast.

CORN PRODUCTS REFINING COMPANY

FREE A booklet every parent should read. Tells all about the wonderful food value of Karo; explains the meaning of Dextrose, and why children thrive on it. Sent free with the beautifully illustrated Corn Products Cook Book of 64 pages. Write Corn Products Refining Co., Argo, Ill.

Your Protection

Do not be deceived by cans containing syrup that might look like Karo. The name "Karo" is on every can of original Karo—look for it, and be assured of full weight cans and highest quality.

BLUE Karo

The standard table syrup. Also for cooking, baking and candy making. Light brown color, delicious flavor—a heavy-bodied syrup.

RED Karo

The Ideal Syrup for every use—for cooking, baking, candy making and preserving. Because of its honey-like appearance many prefer it as a spread for cakes, biscuits, breads.

GREEN Karo

Flavored with highest grade real maple sugar. Very moderate in price—absolutely pure. The makers of Karo are the world's largest users of the highest grade maple sugar—over a thousand tons used annually.

BORROWERS FROM BANKS

John Skelton Williams, controller of currency, has been the stormy petrel of the Wilson administration. He has been holding on for a long time, despite the fact that congress has refused to confirm his nomination. Mr. Williams designates his present report as his "seventh and last." In it he proceeds to get a lot of things off his chest and in doing so he discusses many modern ills, real and imaginary, to which the human race is heir. He hits hard at the "profiteers" and after checking up the laboring classes, whom he finds are seeking too much pay, and having commented on Europe and the rest of the world as "unsettled and unstabilized," the controller gets down to brass tacks and gives some interesting information.

Figures showing for the first time the business of the principal borrowers from national banks are presented. Loans and discounts on November 15, 1920 aggregated $13,764,000,000, of which loans to farmers and live stock raisers amounted to $1,998,000,000, or 14 per cent; to manufacturing concerns $2,862,000,000, or 21 per cent; to merchants, mercantile concerns, individuals in the jobbing business and trading wholesale and retail $3,581,000,000, or 26 per cent; to bond and stock brokers and dealers in investment securities $664,000,000; to railroads, shipping companies, electric, light and power companies $225,000,000; to professional men $375,000,000; miscellaneous $4,000,000,000 or 30 per cent.

The report shows that the banking power of the United States as expressed by aggregate of capital, surplus, deposits and circulating notes of national, state and federal reserve banks was $50,981,000,000 in June, 1920. According to an estimate by Mulhall in 1889, our banking power at that time was $5,150,000,000, so that our banking power today is about ten times as great as it was thirty years ago.

The controller discusses the matter of alleged currency inflation, and presents figures showing that the proportion of the money in circulation to the total resources of the banks is now smaller than before the European war. According to Mr. Williams, there is now a credit balance of $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 abroad, due on open account and short term obligations, in addition to the $10,000,000,000 due our government for advances.

Two conspicuous facts stand out in controller's report. One is that loans to farmers are less in proportion to the magnitude of their investment than to any other group of borrowers in the country, save railroads and public utilities. It is significant that the latter group, although badly in need of money for replacements and betterments, have been able to use their credit to a less extent than professional men, while their loans are only a little more than one-third of those made to stock brokers and dealers in investment securities. Both the farmers and public utilities are in need of larger credit accommodations. It will be essential to a continuance of national prosperity that practical ways be found to finance the requirements of these two great factors in the economic health and progress of the country.

SILLY AND WONDERFUL

Some things are sillier than others, and to a good many honest people there really is nothing more like mush than the custom of sending a valentine. But to other people—the ones who are wearing their first pair of long trousers, for instance, or their first pair of earplugs—nothing is more exalted or more fitting.

Children used to think it smart to send horrid, ugly pictures, which their elders who should have known better called "comic valentines," to their friends.

These pictures dwell on all the mean traits of humanity, and never mentioned any good ones. It is an encouraging sign that there aren't so many of these atrocious things for sale any more. It should be an indication that children nowadays are better brought up than the last generation was.

But there is that other kind of valentine—with frilled lace-paper, hearts and arrows, tenderly-tinted ribbons and sweetest verses—they do not seem to pass out of style in the least.

"If you love me as I love you
No knife can cut our love in two."
That was one of them. Sentimental, but effective if sent by the right boy to the right girl. Don't laugh. Without a bit of doubt you went through the same experience yourself, and it is as wonderful and innocent now as it was then.

WASTE THAT WE OUGHT TO CUT DOWN

The National board of Fire Underwriters through its actuarial bureau has just completed a five-year analysis of the fire losses for Wisconsin. These figures, now for the first time made public, reveal in a startling way the price which is paid by the state for public ignorance and carelessness in the matter of fire hazard. They are drawn from an exhaustive study of approximately 32,135 different fires actually reported upon by the insurance companies, and to the figures presented it is estimated that 25 per cent should be added to cover fires not reported to the actuarial bureau.

The causes are classified into three groups, of which twelve are listed as strictly preventable with a total of $5,877,874 or 28 per cent of the whole; nine are designated partly preventable and total $9,176,795 or 43.8 per cent of the whole, and beyond these are the unknown causes totalling $5,904,103, or 28.2 per cent. These unknown causes may be considered as probably largely preventable, since, if known, they would be distributed among the other causes.

Examining more closely, we find that while exposure, meaning the spread of fires already started, takes the lead with a total loss of $2,232,274, the largest original cause of fire is that of spontaneous combustion with its toll of $2,089,741. Next electricity, $1,863,065, was the most destructive fire cause, followed by stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes, $1,626,924 and defective chimneys and flues, $1,290,289.

The impressive figures given should, as stated, be increased by about 25 per cent to cover losses not reported. Thus it will be seen that this state during the years 1915 to 1919 inclusive, paid $20,958,772, or a yearly average of $4,191,754 for the indulgence of its costly habit of playing with fire. If the huge five years' total of $20,958,772 could have been used instead of wasted, it would have built 4,191 houses at $5,000 apiece (sufficient to furnish homes for 20,958 people, or the population of Appleton) or it would build 2,095 miles of good macadam roads at $10,000 per mile.

A study of such figures indicates the need of public education in regard to fire prevention. It must be realized that property destroyed by fire represents an utter and irretrievable loss to society as a whole, while the inextinguishable toll in human life and suffering can hardly be computed.

TODAY'S POEM
(By Edmund Vance Cooke)

THE EARTH AND MAN

By Stopford Augustus Brooke

A little sun, a little rain,
A soft wind blowing from the west—
And woods and fields are sweet again,
And warmth within the mountain's breast.

So simple is the earth we tread,
So quick with love and life her frame:
Ten thousand years have dawned and fled,
And still her magic is the same.

A little love, a little trust,
A soft impulse, a sudden dream—
And life as dry as desert dust,
Is fresher than a mountain stream.

So simple is the heart of man,
So ready for new hope and joy:
Ten thousand years since it began,
Hark! it is younger than a boy.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

BAD TASTE

A peculiar cause of an unpleasant taste in the mouth is mentioned by Dr. Louis H. Levy in a recent contribution to the New York Medical Journal. Dr. Levy accounts for a "brassy" taste, commonly complained of, on the basis of an electrical cell in the mouth. It seems that some dental fillings are of one metal and some of another, and when two metals are immersed in an acid medium, an electric battery is produced. The current generated between a copper or zinc amalgam filling and a gold cap, for example, creates a metallic or "brassy" taste, the electrolytic action being sufficient to cause solution of one of the metals. Dr. Levy asserts that the electrolytic action and the bad taste may be stopped by the use of alkaline mouth washes and perhaps milk of magnesia is the best for the purpose.

Mouth breathers usually have a bad taste in the mouth mornings, whether the nasal obstruction is due to enlarged turbinates, simple chronic rhinitis, adenoids, or enlarged tonsils.

Decayed teeth and pyorrhea are everyday causes of bad taste as well as foul breath. In cases of various digestive disturbances in which there is insufficient acid in the stomach a bad taste and a foul breath may be caused by reverse peristalsis, that is, the wavelike movements carry material back toward the mouth instead of down through the stomach. This state of affairs is a frequent one in persons who imagine themselves "bilious." The "dark brown taste" is due to material regurgitated in minute quantities from the stomach up into the throat; and this material coats the back of the tongue yellowish. But be it understood that "billiousness" just isn't, as in other words, there is nothing wrong with the bile apparatus or the liver, particularly in such cases, at least not until the deluded victim begins taking poisons at his liver with diverse and sundry medicines.

Now and then a persistent bad taste in the mouth is due to early arteriosclerosis or early nephritis (Bright's disease), as Dr. Thomas F. Reilly pointed out several years ago.

Secretion retained in the crypts or openings of the tonsil may cause a bad taste at intervals. Retained secretion or detritus of this kind is a very frequent cause of foul breath. The physician may express such masses when examining the tonsils and give pronounced relief.

Infection of one of the nasal sinuses is a fairly common cause of foul taste.

Various drugs not particularly disagreeable to take may be eliminated in part through the salivary secretion and cause extremely unpleasant taste in the mouth afterward.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Overlooked

Our baby, born after a difficult breech delivery, was found to have a fracture of the arm near the shoulder. This was not discovered until he was a week old, when the nurse noticed it. Should not the doctor make an examination immediately for such a thing? If the fracture is set now, will the arm become as strong as it fractured but (R. R. S. ANSWER—Circumstances in such a serious time may well preclude a careful examination of the infant. Ordinarily the doctor does very well if he saves the baby's life.

Does Running Shorten Life?

Kindly let me know whether running shortens a person's life. Recently, while practicing, I met an athlete who advised me to give up this branch of athletics, because, he said, it strains the heart and shortens a man's life by ten to twenty years. (M. R. ANSWER—One of the contestants in the Marathon race of the last Olympic contest fell dead by the roadside. Running, like any other athletic effort, carried beyond the individual's endurance, in a contest, such as football, undoubtedly overtaxes the heart. Even though the athlete collapses, with acute dilation of the heart, recovery usually ensues, with sufficiently prolonged rest, although the victim may never regain his "wind" sufficiently to engage in athletic efforts or contests again. Training for an athletic contest is strictly a question of developing the heart to an abnormal size and power; it is a question not of the athlete's leg or chest muscles but of his heart muscle. This takes time and expert judgment, such judgment as the specially educated physical director or the physician has. It is, therefore, unwise for boys of high school age to enter training for an athletic contest without adequate instruction, direction, and observation. Of course a heart once dilated by overstrain, as in an endurance contest for which the athlete is inadequately trained, may fall in some vital emergency, such as typhoid fever or pneumonia or influenza, later on, and so shorten life. Aside from such accidents, due to too short a period of training or to lack of proper supervision, there is nothing in the notion that athletic activity shortens life. Intelligent athletic activity rather tends to lengthen life.

Government Gold

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—A more impregnable storehouse for the nation's gold is asked by the secretary of the treasury.

years ago. It was the strongest that could be constructed then, but it could be made more secure now.

And this is a very good time to construct a new vault and reformatory the old one, Secretary Houston avers, because the old vault is unusually empty. During the war it had needed 265,000,000 silver dollars into bars and shipped them to her. This made a big hole in the mountain of gold in the treasury and sub-treasury vaults, so that if repair work were done now on the treasury vault, there would not be the difficulty of removing the contents of a packed vault to a safe place and later bringing it back.

Another reason why a larger, stronger vault is needed is also being impressed on congress. That is that the nine sub-treasuries are being abolished and a large part of the gold and silver reserve held by them will have to be stored here. Besides this, the money which they have been using to conduct business—some $50,000,000—will be released to the government, and will probably all be brought to the treasury, where, an assistant secretary of the treasury says, it is much needed. The bullion held by the sub-treasuries is to go to the mints and assay offices scattered over the country, where it can be stored until needed for conversion into coin.

Safest of Safes

The vault which the treasury department wants is to cost $2,000,000, and is to be the last word in safety. It is to be a three-story structure in the treasury building court. The sub-basement, where a vault is already in existence under the court, will be strengthened and used for storage of securities not in constant use. The basement floor will be a more accessible vault for coin and notes and securities, and the surface story will contain offices.

The bill providing for this structure is now before the house committee on public buildings and grounds, as this committee will have to approve the building before the committee on appropriations can consider putting up the money. No action has been taken by the public buildings committee but it is considered likely that the extension of the vault will be authorized.

Imagine thirteen billion dollars worth of money and securities under one roof, and you get an idea of what the strong gray walls of the treasury building hide. And every penny of it has to be accounted for. The treasurer of the United States is bonded for its safety. If a thief should manage to make way with a bag of government gold the treasurer would be held responsible unless congress took action to stay prosecution proceedings.

But stealing the treasury gold is a feat for professional thieves realists to beyond them. About the nearest that any one has come actually to getting away with treasury money was the case of one of the men who are employed to destroy old bills. You may remember that there were three of these men, and that one for a long time contrived to stick some of the best of the worn money into his pockets when the other two were not looking.

That was a very unusual situation, in most of the important places of the treasury, even the guards are guarded, and while one man will have the key or the combination to open an outer door, another has to come to open the inner door.

Counting a Nation's Coin

Because the treasurer is responsible for the contents of the vaults, when he resigns, as Mr. Burke did last month, there has to be a recounting of the Treasury stores. This time, some 25 or 30 persons were detailed to the vault to make the count, and for 16 days they did nothing but check up on coin, bullion, notes, and securities. The total they found in the building was $12,883,819,526.36.

This does not represent all the government's money. Washington is considered sufficiently far back from the coast to be a safe place for federal vaults, but even so, the government does not put all of its eggs into one basket. There are the mints and the assay offices and the federal reserve banks.

The sub-treasuries, too, were a part of the system of scattering instead of concentrating public funds. When they were established, the sub-treasuries undoubtedly were needed. Transportation of currency over long distances was uncertain and dangerous, and in a country as large as ours so much transportation of gold and silver would have been a serious drag on all finance. Then there was an early law that the public moneys could not be deposited in banks, and the sub-treasuries provided a legal place of deposit. This law has long ago been altered, so the federal reserve banks can take the place of the sub-treasuries as depositories for government funds.

Soft Salaries Slashed

In fact, since the federal reserve banks have been established it has become more and more apparent that these banks could perform nearly all the functions detailed to the sub-treasuries, and only the unsettled conditions due to the war have duties until now.

A further min or objection to the sub-treasury organization has been that the heads of the nine sub-treasuries were appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, and there, many people claimed, their activity ceased. The house sub-committee on appropriations disposed of these assistant treasuries of the United States by the following dialogue:

Representative Wood: "If I were abolishing the assistant treasuries, it would not be because of anything touching the persons now occupying those positions, but because of their absolute uselessness as functionaries."

Representative Davis: "What, do they do?"

Representative Wood: "Draw their salaries."

Representative Wason: "As a matter of fact, are their salaries not sent to them?"

A representative of the treasury department objected to this harsh summary of the duties of the sub-treasury heads, and held that the good ones found something to do to keep busy. The committee finally decided to do away with the sub-treasuries anyway. The clerks were provided for by transfer to other offices, but the bill left the assistant treasurers to shift for themselves at a saving to the government of about $50,000 a year.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters, nor will it attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What causes strikes? B. E. R.

A. Strikes are caused by the dissatisfaction of employees with wages, hours, or other conditions of employment.

Q. An engineer, employed in one town and living in another because of scarcity of houses in former, pays out a considerable sum every month in commutation fare. Can he deduct this expense in filing his Federal income tax return? E. E.

A. Railroad fares are only deductible when a person is a traveling business man and this fare then becomes a business expense. Street car and railroad fare paid in going to and from work is not a deductible expense.

Q. What are bituminous shales? Are they of any value? M. C.

A. The term bituminous shales properly applies to shales containing considerable bituminous matter. It is of no value for fuel purposes, but may serve as a source of oil.

Q. What is the meaning of "gun" as a slang term? F. W. T.

A. "Gun" as a slang word has various meanings. Among them being "a thief," "a tobacco pipe," "a liquor glass" or "mug."

Q. How many mints are now in operation in the United States? E. E.

A. There are now three mints in operation in the United States. They are located at San Francisco, Calif., Denver, Colo., and Philadelphia, Pa.

Q. What is an empty ball in baseball? J. B. S.

A. An empty ball is one which has been roughed. A pitcher is not permitted to use one.

Q. Could you furnish a brief biography of the designer of the White House? J. H. G.

A. The designer of the White House was James Hoban, born in Ireland about 1755. He came to the United States, settling in Charleston, South Carolina, and later to Washington when the city was first being laid out. He worked for the Government for the greater part of his life. He is chiefly known for his work in connection with the White House, the rebuilding of which he directed after it was burned in 1814.

Q. Who was Geoffrey Chaucer? C. C. H.

A. This is the nom de plume adopted by Washington Irving in The Sketchbook, etc.

Q. What are creeping plants? B. L. K.

A. This term is applied to plants whose stems run along the surface of the soil and root at intervals.

Q. What relation is the former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to Queen Victoria? J. G. M.

A. The former Emperor William of Germany is a grandson of the Queen Victoria of England. His mother was Queen Victoria's oldest child.

Q. To whom were the Nobel prizes awarded in 1920? H. T. H.

A. In 1920 Nobel Prizes were awarded as follows: Woodrow Wilson, peace; Professor August Krogh, (Denmark), medicine; Knut Hamsun (Norway), literature; Chas. G. Breteuil (Ile de France), chemistry; and Albert Einstein, physics.

Q. How long did the glacial period last, and how long ago was it? G. W.

A. The pleistocene period or glacial invasion was the last important geological event before the present epoch that had a wide influence upon the physical appearance of the world. The duration of the period is estimated as being at least 500,000 years, and the ice retreated from the northern part of the United States as long as 25,000 years ago, while Sweden entered from its ice cover about 12,000 years ago.

Californians Can Learn A Few Things From Florida

Captain Fred Heinemann Writes of His Impressions in Tourist State.

"All cities and hamlets are alike in Florida," said Capt. Fred Heinemann in a letter to his son, Fred V. Heinemann, district attorney, written at St. Petersburg.

"Tampa is a somewhat older city than St. Petersburg but almost as dependent upon the tourist industry. Thrift Private residences can be counted on the fingers of your hands. Every house, nearly, harbors tourists and its owners occupy a back room or two, frequently the garret.

"St. Petersburg is like a bee hive; like a circus day in Appleton; like a carnival with plenty of side shows. In its daily rush one is almost carried off his feet. With few exceptions every building is set like a trap to catch tourists, and they catch them going or coming. The principal asset of the place is climate.

"The present population of the city is estimated at 15,000 and the number of tourists at 40,000, so you can imagine the job the permanents have on their hands in supplying their needs in food and shelter and themselves with comfortable bank deposits.

"The permanent residents are southerners only in name; two-thirds of them are from the north and they are not here for their health. Among these snappy workers for the happiness of their fellow men, a legion are real estate brokers and promoters of fast fortunes in sandpiles and sunshine. They are a lively healthy lot and are nobly laboring with the landlord section in raising rentals and accommodations sky high.

Apartment houses, so-called, remind one of a range of cages in a menagerie and are diminutive in size. How would you like to come here and live in a room at the modest rental of $25 to $40 per week for four or five months to get your fill of sunshine and climate?

Expensive Pleasure

"The feeding proposition is not so bad. There is competition in that commodity. The city is more than amply supplied with restaurants, cafeterias and lunch rooms. Think of a family of four or five paying from $250 to $550 for a few rooms for the season ending May 1. Add to this transportation here and back home and it knocks all longings for sunshine and shyness warming into a cocked hat for plain, well to do people.

"One thing I want to mention before I forget it is that more than half of the sum total of tourists are old people who seem to waiver around on the fringe of the grave probably here looking for Mr. Ponce de Leon's imaginary fountain of youth lost somewhere among the confusing jumble of hash foundries and sardine packing establishments called apartments.

"St. Petersburg is a city of magnificent distances scattered all over with every house in it a trap set for tourists. It puzzles me to keep my bearings at times, notwithstanding the system of numbering is not bad, but it is hard to get used to it. There are many substantial business buildings and residences here but you cannot put your finger on a single one of them but is the creation of northern dollars, genius and enterprise.

"When I return I shall bang right through. Have seen all the sights I care for. We have band concerts daily. Three planes flying daily buzz like planing mills while I write."

Will Petition Legislature to Defeat Repeal of Mandatory Clause.

Arrangements for the circulation of petitions opposing the repeal of the county nurse compulsory law which was passed two years ago, but which is to take effect in the future, will be made at a meeting of the health department of the Womans club Tuesday afternoon in the club rooms. Assemblyman L. Lamb of Fond du Lac county, introduced a bill which if passed would eliminate the mandatory feature of the county nurse law. Efforts will be made by the Appleton Womans club to oppose the measure.

Save The Tablecloth

When soup is served at the everyday home dinner the use of supper plates under the soup plate or bonillon cup is a safety first measure. If the supper plate goes to the kitchen after the soup course perfectly immaculate it's a very simple matter to dip it in scalding water and wipe it when doing the dishes. If the supper plate was needed under the soup plate the tablecloth was spared and the plate is much easier to wash than the tablecloth.

THE BOOK OF DEBORAH

The love affairs of Deborah Burns were much discussed after her mother returned from the west. Everybody knew that Mrs. Burns was accustomed to marry off her daughters to suit herself and everybody was wondering if Deb would prove as obedient as her older sisters. Mrs. Burns was considered a master of diplomacy in matrimony. She had allied her family to two of the big fortunes of the town. Now she intended to annex the Van Hysks, oldest and richest of all, so the gossip ran.

Confessions Of A Bride

Then spoke up Chrys, the cynic. "The sure, one is a long time married just as one is a long time dead!" "How can her mother insist? Van's so unspeakable—and at least twice Deb's age," I raged.

News of Interest From County and State

CENTER ATTENTION ON FOUR KINDS OF STATE LEGISLATION

Prohibition, Education, Taxation and Marketing Hold Solons' Interest.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison—Important legislation to be enacted at this session of the legislature may be classified under four heads:

Prohibition, education, taxation and marketing. Legislative leaders are agreed on this. Bills on other subjects may be shoved to the forefront as the session progresses, but it will be over the desires of the leaders, who are in accord as to the program.

Prohibition will be the first for final action. The Matheson bill represents the views of the dry forces of the state. The liquor interests have no program other than the defeat of the Matheson bill. The Mulberger law is good enough, they say.

The prohibition enforcement question will be fought out on the floor of the assembly this week, probably Thursday. The Matheson bill will be reported out of the state affairs committee with the recommendation for indefinite postponement. The preliminary skirmish favors the wets, although the committee victory can only be regarded in the nature of a fluke.

The educational bills are scheduled for appearance from committee following the final disposition of the prohibition bill.

The bills now introduced take the common ground that the educational system should be reorganized. Divergence of opinion comes on the manner in which reorganization should be accomplished. Heads of the educational departments cannot agree to the remedy and their differences are now reflected by the legislators.

A better understanding may be reached after Gov. John J. Blaine gives his views on the problem in a special message to be presented in the near future.

Taxation is the problem closest to the members of the legislature. All members admit taxes are too high. All say something ought to be done about it. All fear there may be an increase. The people back home are protesting. Political fortunes are in the balance for most members and they know it.

Just what can be done is yet to be worked out. Gov. Blaine has given his opinion of the problem this week. He will tell the legislature a definite financial policy is necessary. He will advise members to determine the amount of money to be appropriated and make necessary provisions for raising it.

The governor, it is understood, will declare his unalterable opposition to any increase in the general tax levy and will tell the legislature any attempt to appropriate more money than the state's income will be vetoed.

The taxation bills will be given careful consideration. With the state's income $55,000,000 for the biennium and appropriations sought by the state's departments and institutions $72,000,000, it will be necessary to raise more money, leaders say. The surplus is looked upon with favor by members. Income tax rates may be increased before sufficient revenue is assured.

The marketing bills now introduced vary slightly in content. The measures standardize farm products and facilitate marketing them. Out of the two bills will grow a law that will give farmers genuine aid, members say. Any danger of a political division over this problem seems to have been removed.

WOULD TAKE PENSION BURDEN FROM TEACHERS

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—Herman L. Ekern, former commissioner of insurance, is preparing the bill to be introduced by the senate committee on education this week on recommendation of the special legislative committee appointed in 1919 to devise some means of amending the statutes relating to teachers' pensions and retirement fund. The special committee, in its report, recommended that all teachers in the state be required to make a deposit equal to 5 per cent of their annual salary. The bill now being completed will, it is understood, provide for a graduated contribution from the state so that no teacher will ever lose 1 cent of her own deposit and interest.

GRAVE DANGER FROM BOILER EXPLOSIONS

Industrial Commissioner Wants to Engage Two More Boiler Inspectors.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison—There are 4,000 uninspected boilers in the state. The explosion of the boiler at Stoughton which cost five lives or the boiler explosion at Loyal may come at any time, the joint finance committee of the general assembly was told by Chairman George L. Hines. But two inspectors of boilers are permitted under present appropriations, the committee was told. Two men cannot inspect the boilers of the state. Two additional inspectors are asked and even these cannot cover the state thoroughly, the legislators were informed.

The industrial commission will ask the legislature to pass a bill providing that no second hand boilers can be sold without having first been inspected by the state. In both the Loyal and Stoughton instances, second hand boilers exploded.

"Our inspectors found 17 boilers recently without safety valves," reported Hines when Senator Bird asked him if engineers could not inspect their own boilers as to safety.

"In one case, the inspectors found a creamery boiler without a safety valve. The engineer lived above the boiler room and told the inspector he blowing off of steam awakened members of his family."

The law in its present form is inadequate, committee members were told. There is nothing to prevent use of uninspected boilers. The commission found no difficulty in enforcing the law where inspections were made.

RUNAWAY CARS HIT TRAIN, ONE KILLED

Merrill, Wis.—Sig Arneberg, logging superintendent for the Heinemann Lumber company, was instantly killed Saturday afternoon near Dunfield station when three loaded logging cars got away from their blocking and ran into the caboose of a Milwaukee road train, telescoping it and wrecking three flat cars. Mr. Arneberg was in the door of the caboose when the collision occurred.

Logs were thrown in instances a distance of several hundred feet. The loaded cars came from a high grade a mile above the point of collision, and in striking the caboose splintered the box of the caboose into bits, the first loaded flat car of logs jamming on top of the trucks of the caboose.

Arneberg's body was picked up from under the end of the caboose, from where he had been standing when the cars hit.

An effort was made by the M. T. and W. engine, leased for logging operations, to catch up with the runaway train. The fact that the runaway train made practically no sound gave Arneberg no warning.

Mr. Arneberg is survived by his widow and three small children.

WATER SUPPLY IS SERIOUS PROBLEM

Thousands of Industries Dump Sewage Into Lakes and Rivers.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—Wisconsin has 46 cities using surface waters, such as lakes and rivers as sources of their public water supply. It is indicated in the report of C. M. Baker, state engineer, rendered to the department of engineering, reviewing activities in 1920. Ten of these supplies are filtered and chlorinated, twelve are chlorinated only, while twenty-four are untreated. The latter class constitute the greatest danger of transmitting disease.

Ground water supplies are used in 224 cities and villages, and consist of 100 shallow wells, springs and infiltration galleries, and 124 artesian or deep wells. There are 270 public water supplies in the state.

Of 163 public sewerage systems, only 52 provide sewage treatment to render the wastes harmless, and 101 discharge raw sewage into lakes or streams. There are a total of 4,410 plants discharging industrial wastes, which contribute to general stream pollution affecting water supplies used for domestic consumption, fishing, bathing, and other purposes.

These wastes come from 139 canneries, 40 coal tar and gas plants, 1,324 milk products plants, 52 packing or rendering plants and tanneries, 32 paper and pulp mills, and 195 miscellaneous wastes. This makes a grand total of 4,834 sources of wastes and sewage that are a factor in water supply and stream pollution.

The report mentions that many plans for the treatment of sewage are very ineffectively operated and are frequently by-passed, a fact requiring special attention to prevent disease outbreaks.

Experimental work is being done by the bureau of sanitary engineering in cooperation with the state laboratory of hygiene in regard to the disposal of milk products and canning plant wastes, which furnish the most difficult disposal problems.

ORDER INVESTIGATION OF "POISON GIRL" DEATH

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee. — An inquest into the death of Marian Davis, "poison girl," was ordered late Friday by District Attorney Zabel. Miss Davis was taken to the emergency hospital on Jan. 27 after she is said to have taken seven bichloride of mercury tablets. The same day she was removed to the Milwaukee maternity hospital where she died two days ago.

WANT VETERANS TO GET FEDERAL AID

In an effort to assure every ex-service man proper compensation for injury, illness or disability incident to military service, the bureau of war risk insurance, Washington, has sent special notice to the Red Cross center urging application for a certificate of injury.

The notice reads: "If you are suffering from an injury or illness contracted in or aggravated by your service in line of duty, you are entitled to medical, surgical or hospital care."

"If your service disability is 10 per cent or more, you are entitled to compensation for yourself, wife and children; and for your father and mother if dependent upon you for support."

"If you suffered injury or contracted disease while in active service, in the line of duty, which has not resulted in compensable disability but which may so result in the future, be sure to apply for a certificate of injury within one year after the date of your discharge or resignation in order to protect your right to receive compensation benefits."

Necessary blanks or other information are available at the Red Cross center, Appleton street. It is believed that most former service men living in this county are taken care of, but the government is anxious to overlook no one.

WOMEN HEAR TALK ON BADGER COLLEGE

J. D. Brownell, Northland College Head, Speaks at All-day Women's Meet.

J. D. Brownell, president of Northland college, Ashland, was the principal speaker at the women's all-day meeting Friday in the First Congregational church. His address was given before the Missionary society at the afternoon session.

The speaker expressed his appreciation for what the church had done for Northland college and for its students. He mentioned the needs of the less fortunate students who were working their way through school.

Several college girls presented a one-act play describing the arrival of a box of clothing which the Women's Missionary society had collected, and the need it met. President Brownell told how such a box of warm clothing would be appreciated. The society plans to send one in the near future.

There was a good attendance at the morning session, where more than 50 worked on aprons. Luncheon was served at noon by a committee of women, followed by a business session of the Womens Union. Complexions—Night and Noon

Almost any woman can look pretty at night, but only perfect, natural skins can face the glare of noon.

A radiant skin, healthy and glowing, is the very foundation of charm—and every woman can have one. Aids to beauty are many, but the essential is a thoroughly clean skin.

Good complexions call for soap

Beautifying cleanliness requires not only a clean surface, but also soap-cleansed pores. Such cleanliness calls for soap.

Dirt, oil and perspiration clog the skin. So does powder—so does rouge. At least once daily this accumulation should be removed. The best time is at night. Then for hours of sleep the skin has a chance to breathe.

Without such cleansing, glands and pores become enlarged and irritated. Their functions are retarded. Skins become coarse. Blackheads and blotches may follow.

Must be done with lather

This cleansing must be done with soap. There is no substitute. One must force lather into the pores, using a gentle massage. When that is rinsed out, the dirt and oil come with it.

A balmy lather needed

The study has been to produce a balmy, creamy lather. A lather that soothes while it cleanses. A lather which leaves the skin soft.

To do that, modern science has gone back to methods of 3,000 years ago. It employs a blend of palm and olive oils. Not as Cleopatra used them, but prepared in modern ways.

In Palmolive soap these matchless oils are perfectly combined. As a facial cleanser, the world has never found anything better. And it probably never will.

Palmolive cleans the skin with a gentle and soothing emollient. It leaves the skin in blooming, fresh condition. Its daily use is the foundation of skin beauty. Its every application penetrates the skin with the most beneficial oils of the ages.

If the skin is very dry, apply cold cream before and after washing. The soap will make a balmy lather. Rub it gently into the pores. Rinse out with warm water, then apply a dash of cold water as a tonic.

Then you have done the utmost, beyond good, food, fresh air and exercise, to beautify the skin.

Supreme for 3,000 years

Egyptian beauties used palm and olive oils. Roman beauties used them in their famous baths. As skin cosmetics, palm and olive oils have for ages stood supreme. But in older times only the favored few could get them. And none could get them in this ideal form.

DRAINAGE BODY TO MEET IN MADISON

Experts From State and Nation Will Seek Solution of Problems.

Drainage problems will be considered at a 3-day gathering of the Wisconsin State Drainage association in Madison, beginning Tuesday, Feb. 22. A complete program has been received by John J. Sherman, president of Citizens National bank.

This subject is of interest in Outagamie county because a movement is on foot now to convert lands in the northern part of the county into profitable farms. A number of farmers have placed drain tile on their farms and others are considering it. This is considered one of the most important aids to good crops.

E. R. Jones, Madison, state drainage engineer, is to present the subject, "Should Not Benefits Be Determined by the Cost, Rather Than the Cost by the Benefits?" Mr. Jones plays a leading part in the big drainage project in this county.

Other speakers include S. H. McCrory, chief of bureau of drainage, United States department of agriculture, who talks on "Drain Tile"; C. R. B. Elliott, St. Paul; H. C. Pascher, Madison; E. M. Appleton, Oshkosh; Orlan do Holway, Neillsville, former adjutant general, and several others of prominence.

A banquet is to be held in Capitol cafe Tuesday evening. The meetings continue through Wednesday and up to Thursday noon, Feb. 24.

FREE CONCERT IN CHAPEL TONIGHT

Ninth Regiment Band Will Play Second of Indoor Municipal Concerts.

All roads will lead to Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening when the Ninth Regiment band gives its second free public concert at 8:35. The band has completed its rehearsals and is prepared to render a program that will eclipse former efforts.

Four novelty numbers, some of them new to Appleton people, and a violin solo by Prof. Percy Fults, director, are features of the program. There are nine principal divisions of the program with fourteen selections.

It is the aim of the band to secure attendance of the masses. The program has been arranged in anticipation of this. With approximately 1,600 seats in the chapel, it is believed that all will be accommodated. Indoor concerts are more comfortable than those in the parks where only standing room is provided.

NEW BATTERY SYSTEM FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Fearing that the liquid battery rack at fire station No. 1 supplying current to the alarm system might give way, a new one was installed this week. It is built on a different plan to eliminate attacks of sulphuric acid fumes.

The former rack had shelves under one another on which the glass jars were placed in rows. The evaporation from the acid was absorbed by the wood and after day and night the smoke from the fumes and holes could be picked in the boards, just as though the wood was rotted.

The new rack overcomes this by having the shelves built on a stairway plan. Each set of jars stands in the open instead of being underneath a shelf. The fumes arise into the air instead of the wood, thus preventing deterioration.

Two sets of batteries are kept in use. One is charged each day while the other is supplying power to the fire alarm circuit.

RAISE MONEY HERE TO AID STARVING CHINESE

Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, president of the Appleton Women's club and P. H. Ryan have been appointed members of the state committee for the China Famine fund by Dr. Charles McCarthy of Madison, a member of the national committee.

The funds are being collected mainly through organizations and will be transmitted to Peking where they will be administered by a committee representing the American committee and composed of prominent mission-aries, business men and representatives of the Red Cross and the United States diplomatic service.

COUNTY NURSE RECEIVES SET OF HEALTH POSTERS

An attractive set of health posters has been obtained by Miss Bertha Schultz, county nurse, from the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association for use in country schools. Each is printed in attractive colors, arranged primarily to attract the eye of the child. There is usually some feature that draws attention to the painting. In many it is a playful dog which happens to be into mischief where the lesson is to be applied. An admonition, simply worded, is printed in an upper corner of each poster.

FEW "FOREIGN" CARS PASS-THRU APPLETON

"Foreign" cars are becoming scarce in trains passing through Appleton. During the war they were more numerous than cars belonging to Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Co. and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Co. The scattering was due in great measure to government operation of railroads. Since the roads have been returned to private ownership an effort is being made to get the cars back to their home roads and they have been loaded only in the direction of home.

EARLY MAILING IS BEST, KELLER SAYS

Postmaster Urges Depositing of Chicago and Milwaukee Mail at Noon.

Many business houses adopted the suggestion of Postmaster Gustave Keller that mail be deposited at the postoffice twice a day instead of letting it accumulate until the end of the afternoon. This has meant earlier dispatch of important mail and has helped distribute the work of the postoffice more evenly.

"I believe that firms and people would deposit their mail early in the day if they realized the difference it makes in delivery at the other end," said Mr. Keller. "Mail for Chicago leaves here at 3:45 in the afternoon, and by reaching there at 9:30 is as sorted in time for the first delivery the next morning."

Letters deposited after 3 o'clock do not leave Appleton until 2 o'clock in the morning," Mr. Keller continued. "If they arrive in Milwaukee and Chicago too late for the first delivery, and possibly may not reach their destination until afternoon. A good rule in a business house is to collect all mail at noon and send it to the postoffice. People must only help themselves to better service, but it does away with the evening congestion in the office."

Help The Clerks Mr. Keller also suggests that those who mail a number of letters at one time face them ready for the collecting machine instead of having them upside down or back to back. A rubber band should be placed around the pack so they do not separate when dropped through the postoffice slot. It takes clerks longer to sort and face letters than it does to cancel the stamps. Envelopes and stamps should not be wet too much, because the letters stick together and sometimes an address is accidentally torn off.

"It is safer to deposit mail at the postoffice than in mail boxes in order to make sure of dispatch the same night," said Mr. Keller. "People given letters to mail sometimes forget about them, or drop them into a box after the carrier has made the evening collection. Each box states the time when collections are made and a little caution will prevent a letter from remaining all night in a box when it should have been at its destination in the morning."

FARM HANDS SCOFF AT $30 PER MONTH OFFERS

It is alleged some farmers are offering $30 per month for help which includes board and lodging, but so far as is known no one has accepted that wage scale. While quite a number of young men have returned to the country owing to the closing down of factories they are standing aloof from accepting any reduction in wages. Last summer farmers were unable to get help at any price and managed to get through the season alone, and they propose to do so again this summer unless wages come down. They have already commenced getting ready for seeding by swamping local harness dealers with harnesses which are being cleaned and repaired.

WANT TO COOPERATE WITH LOCAL PAPERMILLS

Stockton, Texas, and Appleton should join hands in production of kraft paper from eastern Texas timber products, according to a letter received by the chamber of commerce from the Texas State Chamber of Commerce, Dallas. It is stated in the letter that companies in Stockton seek to obtain the names of reliable interests in the locality to become actively associated in the proposed kraft paper business. The fame of Appleton as a paper mill center led the Dallas association to write to the local chamber.

FEW "FOREIGN" CARS PASS-THRU APPLETON

"Foreign" cars are becoming scarce in trains passing through Appleton. During the war they were more numerous than cars belonging to Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Co. and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Co. The scattering was due in great measure to government operation of railroads. Since the roads have been returned to private ownership an effort is being made to get the cars back to their home roads and they have been loaded only in the direction of home.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit.

Many Badger Cities Favor Lake To Ocean Water Route

Deepening of St. Lawrence River Has Long Been Aim of Middlewest States.

In voting its indorsement of the great lakes to ocean waterway project, Appleton has allied itself with one of the most important projects of the day, commercially and otherwise. Nationwide discussion has been given this subject, and it appears as if the movement is assuming more definite shape all the time.

Sixteen states bordering on the great lakes are backing the movement, which has as its object the deepening of the St. Lawrence river and construction of five canals around its rapids. This will make it possible for ocean ships to reach any port on the lakes, including Chicago, Milwaukee and Green Bay.

An organization called the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association has been formed to support the project. The association received an appropriation of about $5,000 from the Wisconsin legislature to help defray expenses of a thorough study of the situation. Several conferences have since been held and the association has effectively neutralized the opposition by New York shippers before congress.

Fanciful Fear Eastern business men have been unable to advance any reason for not wanting the project. They are hiding behind the suggestion that battleships of other nations could steal up the river and into the very heart of the country during a fog, rendering the United States subject to severe attack during a possible war. Wisconsin laughs at the idea, expressing the fond wish that some day people could gaze from Wisconsin's shores upon one of Uncle Sam's fighting boats.

Many Wisconsin commercial organizations have preceded Appleton in giving indorsement. Oshkosh and Fond du Lac are promoting the project and have sent representatives to conferences at Detroit and New York. Prof. F. E. Mitchell, Oshkosh Normal school, who was one of these is to speak at the real estate convention here on this subject.

Milwaukee, through Philip A. Gran, executive director of its association of commerce, is behind the movement "morning, noon and night," according to letters received by Secretary Corbett. A "Milwaukee to the Sea" club has been organized. Appleton is urged to form a similar club. A "Wisconsin to the Sea" club is to be formed as soon as enough local clubs are in operation.

Helps The Farmer Madison is pushing the move for an appropriation from the legislature which will enable the tidewater association to obtain further facts and figures for commerce. Deloit is unanimous in its favor.

Inestimable benefit to the middle west is expected from the project. Montana finds that six cents a bu. can be saved on wheat by loading at lake ports for Liverpool instead of trans-

SASSMAN COWS ARE HEAVY PRODUCERS

Five-Year-Old Holstein Ranks Second Highest in County in Tests.

Eyes of the state dairy men have been turned to George D. Sassman's farm, Black Creek, where some record tests were made among cows of his Holstein herd by Howard J. Martin of the Wisconsin Experiment station. Mr. Sassman now holds second place in the county for milk and butter fat production through the record attained by Pauline Hengerveld Sulp, a 5-year-old.

The proud Miss Pauline produced 690.1 pounds of milk in a seven day test, and an average of 23.99 pounds of butter fat. Her best day's milk record was 102.8. Her record is exceeded only by a cow owned by Fred E. Hartman, Appleton.

Three other cows made exceptional records, according to Mr. Martin. Barbary Dekol Pontiac made 11.11 pounds of butter fat and 461.3 pounds of milk in seven days. Her best single day record was 70.6 pounds of milk. She is two years old.

Barberry Hengerveld Sulp, a 3-year-old Holstein, made a slightly better record. She produced 22.07 pounds of butter fat and 487 pounds of milk, with 72 pounds on her best single day. Six-year-old Pauline Hengerveld Gerben tested out splendidly, furnishing 64.6 pounds of milk and 28.28 pounds of butter fat.

"Cows producing such great quantities of milk and butter are hard to find," says Mr. Martin in commenting on the record of the Sassman herd. "Mr. Sassman is to be congratulated upon possessing such remarkable cows. Of the 70 herds I have visited in Wisconsin and Michigan during the last five years, Mr. Sassman's compares favorably with the best for individuality and production."

ROGERS WILL GIVE HILL PLENTY TO DO TUESDAY EVENING

Record-Breaking Crowd Is Expected to Witness Wrestling Match.

Despite numerous counter attractions this week, the George Hill-Jack Rogers wrestling match, on Monday night, is sure to attract one of the largest crowds of the season. Fans are expected to fill the arena to the very heights of the stands and they will see him push on one of the biggest obstacles out of the way. Rogers is a big man, more than one sense of the word.

For the last year or so Rogers has had to make all kinds of concessions to get matches on in Canada. He has refused all offers and now he is sitting down to the south for new opponents. He grasped at Hill's chance to a finish match like a kid grabbing for candy.

Stewers Point farm and law, up to college wrestling are to meet a number of classic preliminaries. These college matches know a whole lot about the wrestling game and the bouts have been as interesting as the main event.

A much finer future awaits Hill as he throws Rogers. Cutler Zibezko, London and a score of other stars of the first water are expected to take matches with him.

Navy Men Want to Row
 Annapolis.—Athletes officers at the naval academy have asked permission to enter a team in the Pennsylvania regatta this spring and a crew in the Harvard-Princeton regatta. The mid dies want West Point to send a relay team to Philadelphia for a special race in connection with the Pennsylvania games.

Friedman-Tender Match
 Milwaukee.—Salor Friedman of Chicago, and Lew Tender of Philadelphia will meet in a ten round bout Feb. 22.

Conference Game
 Evanston, Ill.—Minnesota university encounters Northwestern in a western conference basketball game here tonight.

Break Bowling Records
 Buffalo, New York.—Records for entries in the tournament of the American Bowling congress beginning here Feb. 25 have been broken. The previous high mark was 900 teams at Pottsville last year but with three more days to go the list of entries this year includes 924 five-man teams. Entries include teams from the United States, Canada and Mexico.

FAMOUS BASKETBALL TEAMS VISIT MENASHA

Followers of basketball will be given a rare treat the next two weeks. Some of the best known teams in the United States will appear at the Menasha arena to do battle with Menasha's team. On Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, the Milwaukee Bright Spots will line up against the Whiz Bangs, American legion team. The Bright Spots are the acknowledged state champions and this game will no doubt keep the fans on their feet. Wednesday evening, Feb. 16 the New York Nationals, the world's greatest traveling team, on its sixth western tour, will play the Menasha Printing and Carton Company five Saturday evening Feb. 19 will find the five representing the Athletic Club of Denver, Rocky Mountain champions, pitted against the print and carton five. On Tuesday evening Feb. 22 the strong Oswego, N. Y. five will be seen in action against the Print quintet. The Oswego team was the former world champion.

RIPON CLINCHES LITTLE FIVE BASKETBALL TITLE

Lawrence college practically is out of the running for Little Five conference basketball honors. Ripon's victory over Beloit Saturday night clinching the honors Ripon has won all its games so far this year.

Next Tuesday night Ripon and White stand odds here for a return game with Lawrence. The local school was defeated in the first meeting in Ripon and the Blue and White is going stronger now and Mr. Cheney is confident of turning the tables. Lawrence got off to a rather erratic start, spilling its chances for another conference title.

Ripon romped away with Beloit by a 32 to 12 score, finishing the first half with the count of 22 to 7. Gustin, Ripon's star athlete, played his first game of the season and showed up well. Schneider was the big star of the game.

Pennants Follow This Rookie

Johnny Mitchell is a good jinx. Pennants follow in his wake. He's played on six winners in the last eight years.

No wonder Miller Huggins, mite manager of the Yanks, was willing to trade a flock of players for the Vernon star shortstop.

In the three corners and the Yanks shipped Truck Hannah, Ernie Shore, Ham Rusk and Bob McWhir to Vernon and Lefty O'Doul to San Francisco, which club in turn sent Roy Cohn and Lefty Love to the Vernon Tigers.

Six for One
 In 1914 Manager Bill Deneck received six players for one.

That amount of playing capital expressed in legal tender would spin the cash register around several times.

Mitchell stacks up as the most expensive rookie sent up to the majors this year.

He's a mild mannered fellow of the ball for.

On the field he's the babe of club mates who are inclined to loaf.

Razors' Lenders
 I don't come on the ball field to kill time, says Mitchell.

Why should any other player do that?

Sometimes players come into the club house with the remark that to tomorrow's another day and we can't win on all.

"Well that's old stuff. I don't like it."

"I try to make myself believe the theory that we can win on all if we hustle hard enough."

"I can put up there with the Yanks if I get along a right."

"I'm not afraid of making good as a holder."

"There's just a little more finish to the fellows up there."

Magie Land
 The Coast league has always been the magic land for crack shortstops.

Hollocher, Zeb, Terry, Kaneroff, Weaver, Beckenbaugh, Olson, Ward and Risner are all started in the west.

Mitchell is a glutton for work.

He didn't miss a single time, but in 1919. Last year he duplicated his feat up until the last week of the season when the flax was cinched. Then a utility man was sent in occasionally.

Mitchell is 26, married and the father of a little girl.

"I think a ball player who likes home life is better off than a single man," says Mitchell.

He has a fine pair of hands. His hair is yellowish and his eyes gray. The prize rookie is built for speed and hustle—both of which he's got.

And don't forget—the kid was born under a pennant star.

WITTENBERG IS SOFT PICKINGS FOR LOCAL SQUAD

Northern Quintet Is Buried Under a 32 to 8 Score Saturday Night.

In a loose played game Appleton high school basketball quintet took the Wittenberg high school five into camp to the tune of 32 to 8 in Alexander gymnasium Saturday evening.

The game was a runaway for Coach Vincent's men and never once were they threatened. The entire Appleton squad was used.

Dunn and Bruce showed up well, but Jacobson had a visit from old man hard luck. The Wittenberg boys presented a weak defense and when they were able to work the ball toward their goal they lost it through the effect of the work of the Appleton guards. Appleton's style of playing had them puzzled. The entire Apple-

Boston Fans Are Real Peaved Over Winter Trading of Red Sox Stars.

By United Press Leased Wire
 Boston.—Prophets working on the 1921 baseball season aren't giving the Boston Red Sox much of a look-in for the American league race.

Likewise the home fans of "beantown" aren't wildly enthusiastic about their Red Sox.

"Too much trading," by the club owners has put the fans in a belligerent mood.

Under such conditions, Hugh Duffy, new manager of the Red Sox, has his work cut out for him.

"What I would have to say now about the pennant race would be worth just what all winter predictions are worth—nothing," Duffy said.

"However, the Red Sox aren't in the league just to fill out the schedule. We're going to play baseball this training in a new place. Six of them the Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs, New York Giants, Washington Senators, Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics will come to play here.

3 MORE RURAL SCHOOLS PUBLISH NEWSPAPERS

Three new school newspapers came to the desk of A. G. Weating, county superintendent of schools, Friday. They were the Woodlawn School Newspaper, "Badger Tatler," and "Hillway Sentinel." The first is published by district No. 1, Seymour; the second by district No. 3, Grand Chute; and the third by district No. 4, Black Creek. The newspapers are filled with school news and the Woodlawn school publication is illustrated with local pictures. The teachers are Rose Fox, Sadie Banker and Rose Lorick.

IMMENSE MAPLE TREE SUCCUMBS TO WOODMAN

One of the largest maple trees in the county was brought to Appleton Thursday and will be converted into paper machine roll. It was purchased by Welsky Vinty for the Lawson Pulley plant of Menasha and measured 36 inches at the stump and 22 inches at a height of 65 feet. The tree was about 200 years old and was valued at $50. It was located on the Zoh farm in the town of Center and the reason it escaped the woodman's eye until now was due to the fact that it was located in the heart of a heavily timbered tract of land.

WANT NEW RULING ON CHARITY FUNDS

Harris Company Fights for U. S. Tax Deductions on Payments to Charity.

Believing that corporations should be permitted to deduct donations to charitable, religious, scientific or educational organizations from federal tax returns, Archibald Harris and company, Chicago, is waging a campaign in Washington, D. C., to secure a ruling from the treasury department or proper legislation granting such a deduction.

This company has written to the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, which it represents in taxation matters, urging support of the movement. Every commercial organization in the United States is asked to use its influence because funds used in their work are included in the amounts over which there has been a dispute.

It is pointed out that the government will not allow deductions for donations of this kind. Charitable and other organizations are therefore subjected to hardships because many of the companies have cut off their contributions.

FARM MEETING HERE INTERESTS EXPERT

E. L. Luther Wants Breeders' Associations to Help Make Show a Success.

"I wish that this course might be the means of doing the greatest amount of good to the farmers of any of our meetings this winter. I hope that the breed associations will take whether community rights should entirely supplant individual rights. The ultimate decision is usually in favor of all possible equity to both individual and community. It is therefore believed that there is hope for obtaining the proper concessions for civic bodies and others.

H. Archibald Harris is giving the matter study in Washington. He promises to "go to the mat" to secure proper rulings, but is seeking the backing of business men all over the country. The matter will be given serious consideration by the Appleton chamber.

Mrs. Roy Myse and Mrs. George Hogsilver are visiting friends in Milwaukee.

hold of this matter, not only cattle associations, but swine and other associations."

These extracts from a letter received by the committee in charge of the 2-day farmer meeting from E. L. Luther, Madison, show the interest he is taking in Outagamie county's gathering. He is to speak twice on Wednesday. This afternoon topic is "How Our Breeders' Association Can Push Better Livestock in Outagamie County."

The county associations have taken up his suggestion to have the breeding organizations fully represented at the conferences. They are sending official notice to all members to attend, assuring them that they will profit notably by hearing Mr. Luther. The speaker will tell what other counties are doing in successful promotion of better livestock culture. He has visited all sections of the state many times and is one of the best informed men on what the farmers are doing. He believes in passing on the good things he learns. He is a firm believer in the power of breed organizations to bring about dairying and farm improvement.

Norman Schomisch and Leo Merkle returned to Madison Sunday to resume their studies at the state university.

ZIONISM IS OF LITTLE INTEREST TO PALESTINE

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—"Except for the elders, few Jews in Palestine are concerned with Zionism," Mendel Beles, once the center of a great religious trial, declared Monday.

Interviewed in his shabby room in an east end hotel, Beles, who was tried at Kieff, Russia, on charges of committing a "ritual murder" and later fled to Palestine, declared he could not make a living there.

"I start for America soon to make a living," he said, his brown eyes lighting and relieving the dullness of his plain peasant face, covered with a scrubby brown beard.

Beles in his coarse clothing and unkempt appearance, gave little hint that he once was the center of a religious storm which reached every part of the world. He briefly related the story of the trial in which he was acquitted late in 1912.

The discovery that a youth named Tushinsky had been murdered resulted in charges against Beles who was a clerk in a brickyard. Authorities asserted he had killed the boy in observing a Jewish ritual sacrifice. The evidence against Beles was admittedly flimsy and he was acquitted.

POLAND'S PROBLEM OF WORLD INTEREST

little more than a dream, sprang into life as a real and living thing, and Poland came once more into her own. But newly awakened, she has only just begun to function as a separate racial entity, and stormy as has been her past, her immediate future bids fair to be not less so.

Is World Problem

She has already had an opportunity to justify her recreation, and she has proved herself worthy of it. During August of last year, when it seemed certain that the soviet army would overrun eastern Europe, she threw herself in its path and turned it back to the north in riotous disorder. There are soldiers who believe she saved Europe and there are statesmen who believe she saved civilization itself. Today she remains the most certain barrier against Bolshevism, but tomorrow she may be swept aside by the limitless numbers which may be brought against her. Therefore, the problems confronting Poland are our problems also and it were well to interest ourselves in them. But this we fail to do except in a cursory way. France is the only one of the great powers that particularly concerns herself about this reborn state.

She is acting as counselor and friend, for she knows they have common dangers—dangers which spring into action the coming spring and summer. The Poles are brave and adventurous; but it would be well to curb this spirit, for they are unfortunately situated geographically and could be crushed whenever her two powerful neighbors determine to act together. Direct assistance from France would be nearly impossible because access to Poland could be made only through states either only open to antagonistic or covertly so, and even neutral Switzerland has denied the right of the League of Nations to send international troops through her territory. Then, again, she has no secure outlet to the sea, and this leaves her almost wholly dependent upon her own resources.

If Poland is to live as a separate state and grow in influence and power, she must needs be cautious and not unduly offend her neighbors. The visit of President Pilsudski to Paris will have its effect. It is certain that the French have warned him not to be rash and to try to compose whatever differences there still may be with Lithuania. It is probable that one of the questions discussed at the recent meeting of the supreme council was Poland, not alone her relations with Lithuania, but also her attitude regarding the peace negotiations at Riga and the coming plebiscite in Silesia. Lloyd George doubtless left to Briand the task of advising and warning General Pilsudski, believing that advice from France would be more effective than from England.

Safeguard France
Poland is in an advantageous position to create among the lesser states of the Near East something akin to a federation. She might well bring about an entente with both Latvia and Lithuania on the one hand and Rumania and Czechoslovakia on the other. France is using Poland as a bastion against Russia and the necessity for this shows in itself the perilous condition which France has reached since the winning of the war. It again emphasizes the necessity of safeguarding the future of France, for unless and until this is done, she is justified in keeping Europe in a condition where no hostile combina-
